Between Havre and the United States.

[From the Courrier de Havre.]
ommercial relations between this port and the states, owing to the termination of the American via latterly recovered an extraordinary activity, is proved by the simultaneous departures of the steamers.—The Transatiantic Erench steamer eft this port for New York on the 15th, with of different kinds of merchandine; the Transamerican steamer Arago arrived from New York Rh, with a cargo footton, and left Havre on with 1,000 tons of fuel for the voyage, besides of goods. The English steamer Nagara arrefrom Liverpool on the 12th, with a full pushing of 2,124 bales of cotton and 200 ackages, landed its goods, and took on beardight of themes, wines, glass, Ac., in all 1,500 New York. The English steamer America arche same day, with a cargo of 2,616 bales of 2,000 aundries, and will take up here a freight of that of the Niagara for her voyage to the lates. The American sailing packet Mercury on New York on the 22d utilime, with cotton, of the 12th of December with 1,500 tons of ill sorts, chiefly wines and porcelains. The ter-the Havre railway is at this moment encumbered thandise conveyed every day from the capital. In the railway presented an extraordinary scene.

and or Long Printiple are excluded room the succession by their father's disloyalty to the lawful sovereign, and the throne of France becomes vacant if Henry V. dies without son or heir. These calculations, bowever, are too remote to exercise much influence on so practical a mind as that of the French Emperor. Probably he values the adhesion given to his dynasty, in the marriage of his cousin to one of the first among the old nobles of France, chefty as an open acknowledgment that, even in the Rue Greneile St. Germain, the empire is now recognized as an accomplished fact.

THE PHINCESS ANNA MURAT A JERSEY WOMAN.

[From the Trenton (N. J.) Gazette, Jan. 8.]

The Princess Anna Murat, daughter of Prince Lucien
Murat and Madame Murat, and who was born at Borden Murat and Madame Murat, and who was born at Borden lown, was married in Paris on the 18th ult. to the Box de Mouchy, a high-born and wealthy French noble. The description of the brilliant marriace ceremonies seems in strange contrast with what we remember of the Murafamily at Bordentown twenty years ago. In those the Prince was in very reduced circumstances. "A monto to put too fine a point upon it," was seedly, and Madame Murat conducted a school, which was the support of the family. After the revolution of 1848 gave a hope of better fortunes, and the Prince desired to return to France to take his chance, be was obliged to a geniteman of this city for the means to pay his passage and give him a start on the road to fortune and fame. We fancy that times were rather hard with him there until after the acocasion of Napoleon to the presidency. Since that event times have changed for the better with the Prince, and he must look back upon his old Bordentown life as a troubled dream.

The Paris New Year's Pashione.

Although the winter season has advanced, the fashion of wearing an entire tolletts of the same material is still adopted. Of course there are only certain materials in which this is admissable. Cloth or woollen materials

Although the winter season has advanced, the fashion of wearing an entire toiletts of the same material is still adopted. Of course there are only certain materials in which this is admissable. Cloth or woollen materials are thus worn; but, perhaps, nothing is more suitable for this than a kind of velvet called "Velours de Londres;" it is less expenieve than tafetas, and makes a more thorough winter's coatame. It may be trummed either with passementeric, fullpure or fur. For visits of ceremony a dress of satin, with a small cosaque of the same, trimmed with fur, is accordingly elegant.

Our subscribers will just now be the most anxious to know what is la mode for evening and hall dresses; therefore, just mentioning a few favorite materials for these purposes, we will proceed to our long and choice list of toilets.

White tariatanes, with double zigzags or interlacings of colored ruching, are in favor; above all, those spotted with gold or pearl, or with stars of gold or glass; also, those with small colored designs. Another pattern meeting with much favor is that of flies or birds in black and gold, blue shd gold, red and silver, &c.

Many rich fordards are made in stripes of color on a white ground or dotted over with small designs. Ball dresses of thin material are frequently made with tunies caught up by ribbona, cords or trails of flowers. At the bottoms of skirgs bouillonnes or flounces are placed, and corselets with goints, or with small separated basques, are worn. There are some chains of gold made as trimmings for white sain dresses, covered with tulie illusion. These chains—holding, as it were, the boullonnes—are extremely disringue. There are also very rich galons sultanes, made in colors and fringed with gold; gold guipure embroidered with pearis, and ribbons of gold or velvet, with gold or silver hearts. Crystal is used on velvet, with gold or silver hearts. Crystal is used on velvet, who gold bandersters of striped blue and gold; the upper of blue attin, upon each seam a gold face, placed two rows

y on the body and steeves, be, with a very long under skirt of tulle bouillens over with goldsequine. The upper skirt with so basques, composed of maizo colored satin; eac it frimmed round with black velvet and sequin basque trimmed round with black veivet and sequential Body and black veivet sash also trimmed to match. An emerald green velvet dress, with tablier of gree satis fastened to it with silver buttons. The skirk opened on each side, over a breadth of green satin; the openings being edged round with a green passmerner and hang ng silver buttons. The body is low, with a los basque, forming a tunic behind, and very short front, trimmed also with passementerie and buttons. An emuire role of cerise satin, with tablier of which his night's debauch, being in anything but an amiable mood, struck Levis in the face with his fiet. The latter instantly returned the compliment by knocking Maher down, and, jumping upon him, selzed his nose between his teeth. Although Maher made no outery officer Stewart J. Smith and others of the court squad rushed in and separated the combatants, but not till Maher's nose was partially severed from his face. Lewis was thereupon arraigned before Justice Hogan, and on Mr. Curran's complaints locked up for trial, in default of one thousand dollars. Maher was sent down to fir Simmons, Assistant Surgeon in the Tombs, for surgical treatment.

AN OFFICER IN CONFLICT WITH HOWDIES-HE IS SEVERELY BEATEN.

On Saturday night officer Irwin, of the Seventeenth precinct, in attempting to arrest Arthur McClusky and Daniel Murphy for disorderly conduct, on the corner of Fourteenth street and First avenue, was attacked by a gang of roughs, who wrenched away his iocust and beat him over the head with it. After being knocked down officer Irwin drew his revolver and fired at his assailants, but without effect. Several other officers ran up and ar-rested both McClusky and Morphy, and also Patrick Cal-lahan, another of the assailants. The prisoners were taken before Justice Shandley and held to bail in one thousand dollars each to answer. STABBED WITH A CRISEL.

Charles Abb a German, quarrelled with his employer, Joseph Laoer, in the office of the latter, No. 13 Essex street, when Abb seized a chisel from the bench and cut Mr. Lauer in the arm and ear, inflicting serious wounds. Officer Stromburg, of the Tenth precinct, arrested About and Justice Shandley committed him for trial. The prisoner lives at 145 First avenue.

LARGE HAUL OF STREET WALKERS. The Fifteenth precinct police on Saturday night made a raid on the cyprians who are in the habit of parading the streets of the ward, and arrested thirty-five of them. The unfortunate females were yesterday arraigned before Justice Bodge, at the Jefferson Market Police Court, and sent to the Pentientiary, as vagrants, for three, four Coroners' Inquests.

PATAL RESULT OF A QUARREL.—Patrick Dunlap, the abover, who was stabled in the breast with a knife in the hands of Edward Johnson during a quarrel between them, at their residence, No. 150 Washington street, on Friday afternoon, deed in the New York Hospital on Saturday night. Coroner Collin was notified of Duniap's death, and will hold an inquest on the body to-day, Johnson Bed after stabbing deceased, and has not yet been arrested.

Johnson fied after stabbing doceased, and has not yet been arrested.

Farat. Fall.—On Saturday night a man named John Foley fell from the pier foot of Leroy street, North river, and, striking headforemost on the deck of a canal bost lying in the dock, was almost instantly killed. The body was removed to the Twenty-eighth precinct police station and Coroner Gover notified to hold an inquest. The resulences of deceased did not transpire.

Faratty Isrusan in A Barroow—A Fourt on Savilaring of Landing and two o'clock on the morning of the 4th instant a number of men were enjoying themselves in Peter Mitchell's barroom, corner of Spring and Mercer streets, when a couple of them commenced skylarking or quarreling, and, after being thus engaged for a few moments, Andrew Chexer, then present, interfered to separate them, but did not succeed. The struggle between the three became quite spirited, and, backing up against a banister, they all fell over it down the stairs leading to the basement. Clicker was taken up badly injured and conveyed to the New York Hospital, where House Surgeon White, of making an eramination, found that the spine had been partially fractured. Paralysis of the lower entremitties speedily ensued, and the patient failed gradually till Saturday night, when death existed. Coroner Collin was notified, and will hold an inquiest on the body to day. The names of the parties with whom deceased fell over the banisters have not yet been learned. Mr. Clicker was thirty-seven years of age, and a native of Albany. He lived at 18 Greens street.
